Observation and Interpretation - Practice worksheet

Divide a page into what a camera might record and the meaning you add; keep both as provisional.

Adults; supported use as appropriate | 15 minutes

Fictional example: A colleague looks away, and Rae assumes the colleague is bored.

Use an ordinary or fictional example, with a clinician when appropriate. Descriptions and interpretations can be explored separately.

Practice task

Divide a page into what a camera might record and the meaning you add; keep both as provisional.

1. My chosen or fictional situation, and what I know about it:

2. My response to the practice task above:

3. What do you know directly, and what remains a guess?

4. An optional next step, support, adaptation, or reason to stop:

Scope and adaptation

Keep experiments collaborative and low intensity. Chair-based or unfinished-business exploration belongs with appropriately trained clinicians after assessment, with a stop cue and an observing alternative. Do not interpret symbols, recover memories, force body focus, or use cathartic confrontation.
