Overload Traffic Lights

Anxiety & Stress | 30 minutes | 3-12 participants | Adults and teens 13+ with appropriate facilitation

Purpose

Identify personal early signs, pause choices, and support contacts for routine overload.

Materials: Paper or a printable handout, Pens or an accessible writing alternative, Optional blank cards or simple drawing materials

Invite and agree - 3 minutes

Name the purpose and the right to pass, observe, write, or use fiction. Agree that people share only their own experiences and do not promise absolute group confidentiality.

Introduce the example - 3 minutes

Several small demands arrive at once. Ask what is known and what is still a guess.

Practice: Mapping - 17 minutes

Identify personal early signs, pause choices, and support contacts for routine overload. Create a simple diagram or table. Label relationships, gaps, or choices; participants decide which connections fit.

Reflect together - 4 minutes

What signals a need to change pace? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and what would make the exercise more accessible. Do not interpret another person's response.

Choose a next step - 3 minutes

Invite one optional action, support request, or question to carry forward. Passing is a valid closing response. Confirm how to seek appropriate support outside the activity.

Facilitator fit and boundaries

Use ordinary concerns. Do not prescribe exposure or insist on internal or breathing-focused exercises.

Offer observation, private writing, or a fictional example. Adapt instructions and group size to access needs. No client responses are collected by this page.
