Permission to Ask Again

Anxiety & Stress | 30 minutes | 3-12 participants | Adults and teens 13+ with appropriate facilitation

Purpose

Practice asking for clarification when anxiety or complexity makes instructions hard to follow.

Materials: Paper or a printable handout, Pens or an accessible writing alternative, Optional blank cards or simple drawing materials

Invite and agree - 3 minutes

Name the purpose and the right to pass, observe, write, or use fiction. Agree that people share only their own experiences and do not promise absolute group confidentiality.

Introduce the example - 3 minutes

A person receives several unfamiliar directions. Ask what is known and what is still a guess.

Practice: Skills rehearsal - 17 minutes

Practice asking for clarification when anxiety or complexity makes instructions hard to follow. Model one short example. Invite a speaker, listener, or observer role; rehearse a low-stakes version and switch roles only by choice.

Reflect together - 4 minutes

What question would make the next step clearer? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and what would make the exercise more accessible. Do not interpret another person's response.

Choose a next step - 3 minutes

Invite one optional action, support request, or question to carry forward. Passing is a valid closing response. Confirm how to seek appropriate support outside the activity.

Facilitator fit and boundaries

Use ordinary concerns. Do not prescribe exposure or insist on internal or breathing-focused exercises.

Offer observation, private writing, or a fictional example. Adapt instructions and group size to access needs. No client responses are collected by this page.
