Boundary Consequence Check

Communication & Boundaries | 20 minutes | 3-12 participants | Adults and teens 13+ with appropriate facilitation

Purpose

Separate actions within one's control from threats intended to control another person.

Materials: Paper or a printable handout, Pens or an accessible writing alternative, Optional blank cards or simple drawing materials

Invite and agree - 3 minutes

Name the purpose and the right to pass, observe, write, or use fiction. Agree that people share only their own experiences and do not promise absolute group confidentiality.

Introduce the example - 3 minutes

A shared space is repeatedly noisy. Ask what is known and what is still a guess.

Practice: Card sort - 7 minutes

Separate actions within one's control from threats intended to control another person. Write short statements drawn from the example on cards. Sort using the distinctions in the task, then discuss cards that could fit more than one place.

Reflect together - 4 minutes

Which response can the speaker actually carry out? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and what would make the exercise more accessible. Do not interpret another person's response.

Choose a next step - 3 minutes

Invite one optional action, support request, or question to carry forward. Passing is a valid closing response. Confirm how to seek appropriate support outside the activity.

Facilitator fit and boundaries

Practice with low-stakes examples. Consider power differences and safety; do not rehearse confronting an unsafe person.

Offer observation, private writing, or a fictional example. Adapt instructions and group size to access needs. No client responses are collected by this page.
