Permission Slip Workshop

Self-Worth & Identity | 30 minutes | 3-12 participants | Adults and teens 13+ with appropriate facilitation

Purpose

Write a realistic permission statement about rest, help seeking, or trying again.

Materials: Paper or a printable handout, Pens or an accessible writing alternative, Optional blank cards or simple drawing materials

Invite and agree - 3 minutes

Name the purpose and the right to pass, observe, write, or use fiction. Agree that people share only their own experiences and do not promise absolute group confidentiality.

Introduce the example - 3 minutes

Someone believes they must manage every task alone. Ask what is known and what is still a guess.

Practice: Creative activity - 17 minutes

Write a realistic permission statement about rest, help seeking, or trying again. Offer writing, drawing, arranging objects, or describing a fictional creation. No artistic skill or personal disclosure is required.

Reflect together - 4 minutes

What permission challenges an unfair rule? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and what would make the exercise more accessible. Do not interpret another person's response.

Choose a next step - 3 minutes

Invite one optional action, support request, or question to carry forward. Passing is a valid closing response. Confirm how to seek appropriate support outside the activity.

Facilitator fit and boundaries

Let people choose identity language. Avoid appearance-based judgments, forced positivity, and assumptions about culture.

Offer observation, private writing, or a fictional example. Adapt instructions and group size to access needs. No client responses are collected by this page.
