Self-Compassion After a Hard Day

Addiction Recovery | 30 minutes | 3-12 participants | Adults with appropriate facilitation

Purpose

Write a truthful supportive note that acknowledges consequences without using shame.

Materials: Paper or a printable handout, Pens or an accessible writing alternative, Optional blank cards or simple drawing materials

Invite and agree - 3 minutes

Name the purpose and the right to pass, observe, write, or use fiction. Agree that people share only their own experiences and do not promise absolute group confidentiality.

Introduce the example - 3 minutes

A person has struggled to follow their plan. Ask what is known and what is still a guess.

Practice: Creative activity - 17 minutes

Write a truthful supportive note that acknowledges consequences without using shame. Offer writing, drawing, arranging objects, or describing a fictional creation. No artistic skill or personal disclosure is required.

Reflect together - 4 minutes

What response encourages reconnection rather than hiding? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and what would make the exercise more accessible. Do not interpret another person's response.

Choose a next step - 3 minutes

Invite one optional action, support request, or question to carry forward. Passing is a valid closing response. Confirm how to seek appropriate support outside the activity.

Facilitator fit and boundaries

Use fictional, low-intensity examples; do not recreate substance-use cues or give withdrawal or medication advice. Follow individualized care plans.

Offer observation, private writing, or a fictional example. Adapt instructions and group size to access needs. No client responses are collected by this page.
