Safety before Joint Work - Session activity

Facilitate a structured practice of safety before joint work with preparation, reflection, and an agreed closing.

Mental health professionals | 30 minutes

Fictional example: A fictional person fears punishment for asking questions about a relationship breach.

0-5 min | Agree on purpose and fit

Explain the educational scope. Ask what would be useful, check readiness and access needs, and establish choices to observe, adapt, or pass. Use an ordinary example; do not solicit trauma narratives.

5-10 min | Orient with an example

Joint repair depends on freedom from coercion, violence, and retaliation. Fictional example: A fictional person fears punishment for asking questions about a relationship breach. Ask what is observed and what remains uncertain.

10-20 min | Practice and compare

Privately identify questions about safety and control to discuss with a clinician before any joint disclosure or vulnerability exercise. Offer quiet individual work, a supported conversation, or an observing role. Compare two possible responses without evaluating people as right or wrong.

20-25 min | Reflect on meaning

What assessment or individual support must come first? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and how culture, power, disability access, or external conditions affect the options.

25-30 min | Integrate and close

Invite one optional next step or support request. Orient to the current setting, allow an unfinished question to remain unfinished, and agree how to revisit it. End early or adapt if activation increases.

Adaptations

For a group, use fiction and no compulsory round-robin disclosure. For remote use, allow off-camera reflection and private notes. For brief use, keep one example and one question while retaining opening and closing choices.

Reflection

What adaptation or follow-up is needed?

Scope and adaptation

Joint work requires private assessment of coercion, violence, fear, and retaliation. Do not require graphic disclosure, passwords, surveillance, reconciliation, forgiveness, or sexual contact. Accountability for deception is not assigned to the hurt partner. Support individual agency and appropriate medical, legal, or safety consultation without using this worksheet as professional advice.
