Support Network Boundaries - Session activity

Facilitate a structured practice of support network boundaries with preparation, reflection, and an agreed closing.

Mental health professionals | 30 minutes

Fictional example: Lee wants one friend for practical support and a clinician for processing.

0-5 min | Agree on purpose and fit

Explain the educational scope. Ask what would be useful, check readiness and access needs, and establish choices to observe, adapt, or pass. Use an ordinary example; do not solicit trauma narratives.

5-10 min | Orient with an example

Support can be sought while protecting privacy and avoiding isolation. Fictional example: Lee wants one friend for practical support and a clinician for processing. Ask what is observed and what remains uncertain.

10-20 min | Practice and compare

Choose trusted people, what may be shared, and what kind of help is wanted; do not require secrecy about harm. Offer quiet individual work, a supported conversation, or an observing role. Compare two possible responses without evaluating people as right or wrong.

20-25 min | Reflect on meaning

Who can help without taking over your decisions? Ask what fit, what did not fit, and how culture, power, disability access, or external conditions affect the options.

25-30 min | Integrate and close

Invite one optional next step or support request. Orient to the current setting, allow an unfinished question to remain unfinished, and agree how to revisit it. End early or adapt if activation increases.

Adaptations

For a group, use fiction and no compulsory round-robin disclosure. For remote use, allow off-camera reflection and private notes. For brief use, keep one example and one question while retaining opening and closing choices.

Reflection

What adaptation or follow-up is needed?

Scope and adaptation

Joint work requires private assessment of coercion, violence, fear, and retaliation. Do not require graphic disclosure, passwords, surveillance, reconciliation, forgiveness, or sexual contact. Accountability for deception is not assigned to the hurt partner. Support individual agency and appropriate medical, legal, or safety consultation without using this worksheet as professional advice.
